Your guide

Los Cabos is a recognized destination for recreational sport fishing. A successful day depends on the season, conditions, fishing method, crew experience and the movement of fish. No catch can be promised, and local rules should always be followed.

Choose a charter

• Compare boat size, passenger capacity, trip duration, departure location and crew arrangements.

• Ask whether rods, reels, bait, tackle, licenses, ice, water and other supplies are included or charged separately.

• Clarify whether the trip is private or shared and whether the quoted amount is per person or for the whole boat.

Species and seasons

• The species available to anglers vary throughout the year and with ocean conditions. Ask a local captain what is being targeted around your travel dates.

• Marlin, dorado, tuna and other game fish are associated with the broader region, but availability is never guaranteed.

• Ask about catch-and-release practices, current regulations, size limits and any protected species rules.

Before departure

• Confirm check-in time, dock or slip, expected return, passenger count and payment terms.

• Bring sun protection, non-slip footwear and any personal medication you may need.

• If you are concerned about motion sickness, seek appropriate advice before the trip.

• Tell the crew about your fishing experience and any special needs.

Responsible fishing

• Follow the captain’s guidance and all applicable fishing rules.

• Handle fish carefully and follow the crew’s instructions for release or lawful retention.

• Do not assume that a fish can be kept or transported. Ask about current regulations and any processing arrangements.

Planning note

Tour details, prices, schedules, inclusions, access rules and safety requirements can change. Information in this guide is general and is not a substitute for confirmation from the tour operator or local authorities. Verify the details that apply to your travel dates before making a reservation.
